

TABLE OF CONTENTS

VOLUME ONE: CONQUESTS, COLONIALISM AND CONSTITUTIONS

INTRODUCTION : A fact is never just a fact	16
Part One: INDIAN AMERICA: Step backwards to leap forwards	25
Chapter 1: The Environment, unleashed nature courts revenge	36
Chapter 2: Intercontinental diffusion, people from everywhere, and before Columbus	54
Chapter 3: American Indian nations, 500 peoples, all different	75
Part Two: EUROPEAN INVASIONS: The Age of Discovery	109
Chapter 4: Renaissance and Reformation, ideas are riskier than exploring	114
Chapter 5: Portuguese and Dutch, smart, small, powerful and rich in their hey-day	127
Chapter 6: Spaniards, in the 'otro mundo' of the South	136
Chapter 7: French, North and West with the Jesuits	162
Chapter 8: English, the seaboard footholds	172
Chapter 9: Africans, improbable survival	196
Part Three: EIGHTEENTH CENTURY CULTURES: Going every which way	219
Chapter 10: Indian recessions, a dozen factors of fatal decline	233
Chapter 11: Dependency and development, too big for their britches	269
Chapter 12: Structures of Government, social inventions and suppression	306
Chapter 13: Yankees, doctrinaire elders in a crisis of love	318
Chapter 14: Pluralists, people from everywhere	345
Chapter 15: Southerners, planters, Blacks, and hoi polloi	364
Chapter 16: Frontier folk, cultural minimalists	390
Part Four: REVOLUTION AND CONSTITUTION: Violence and rare cunning	402
Chapter 17: Prelude to rebellion, civil disobedience	405
Chapter 18: Seven-fold war, independence, inevitable yet hard-won	430
Chapter 19: Continental Congress and Confederation, better men than usually believed	453
Chapter 20: The Framers, an elective king and the tax power	466
Chapter 21: Constitutional government, the Bill of Rights and a centralizing nation	498