

VOLUME TWO:
ORIGINATING AMERICAN WAYS OF LIVING AND WORKING

Part Five: DIRECT DEMOCRACY: Omnipotence of the People	537
Chapter 22: Jefferson's time, buying Greater Louisiana	544
Chapter 23: The War of 1812, Washington is burning	561
Chapter 24: Governance without power, the usual issues and a Monroe doctrine	572
Chapter 25: "Jacksonian democracy," low-brow nationalism vs. Calhoun	581
Chapter 26: Settlement and Infrastructure, how they lived and moved about	594
Chapter 27: Industrial and urban frontiers, productive cities, immigrants, slums	610
Chapter 28: Character and Speech, several American languages         and personality types	630
Part Six: EXPANSION AND INTEGRATION: How the West was won	657
Chapter 29: International transactions, Americans turned up everywhere	660
Chapter 30: The Hispanic Southwest and Texas, fiercest ragamuffins win	669
Chapter 31: The Mexican War, a full war, including amphibious landings	680
Chapter 32: California, a world apart with wide world contacts	687
Chapter 33: North and West, an easy life, once you passed through	698
Part Seven: THE VOLUNTARY CULTURE: Nothing people couldn't do together	714
Chapter 34: Individualism and affection, anxiously alone and incidentally love	722
Chapter 35: Movements, revivals, labor and utopias	734
Chapter 36: Arts and sciences, including games, Germans and transcendentalism	748
Chapter 37: Women and feminists, piety, protests, popular hatred	770
Chapter 38: Political parties and legislatures, the balancers, hobbling         through history	784
Part Eight: CIVIL STRIFE, Futile debate, a million guns and a century of terrorism	800
Chapter 39: Constitutional law and States' rights, much might be done         that wasn't	804
Chapter 40: Slavery and State sovereignty, hidden in racism and paranoia	817
Chapter 41: War among the States, a grandiose horrid lesson unlearned	838
Chapter 42: Civil War II: 1865-1965, embracing a caste system	863
Part Nine: NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY: The future arrives by steam and muscle	898
Chapter 43: Entangled federalism, pro-corporation courts, but a new civil service	902
Chapter 44: Immigration, where we all come from	927
Chapter 45: Internal migration, a people endlessly boxing the compass	969
Chapter 46: Conversion to urban industrialism, world champions         and shameful cities	991